Columbia Machine, Inc. Names Brian Comstock to its Board of Directors.

VANCOUVER, WA (USA) – August 13, 2026 – Rick Goode, Chairman and CEO of Columbia Machine, Inc., announced Brian Comstock's appointment to the company's Board of Directors.

Comstock brings more than four decades of railroad industry experience across manufacturing, operations, sales and executive leadership. He is Executive Vice President & President, The Americas, for The Greenbrier Companies, leading operations in the United States, Canada and Brazil.

Comstock began his railroad career in 1980 and joined Greenbrier in 1998, advancing from hands-on rail operations to sales and executive leadership. He later served as Chief Commercial & Leasing Officer. Earlier in his career, he held senior operations and sales roles with Transco Industries, Transco Railway Products and Trinity Industries.

Comstock also serves on the boards of Greenbrier GIMSA, Greenbrier Maxion and GBX Leasing, and on the Supervisory Board of Greenbrier Europe.

"Brian's deep experience in manufacturing, operations and commercial leadership aligns closely with our strategic priorities," said Goode. "His perspective and record of value creation will strengthen our Board as Columbia enters its next phase of growth."

"Brian's experience leading complex global organizations will be valuable as we evaluate opportunities, manage risk and execute our long-term strategy," said Gina Walker, CFO and Corporate Secretary, Columbia Machine, Inc.

Outside work, Comstock volunteers with Habitat for Humanity, New Avenues for Youth and the Clackamas County Theater.
